

Quality, Environment and Health and Safety Policy

With the aim to design, manufacture and install solar trackers, the management team of Soltec Energias Renovables, S.L., aware of its commitment to customers, allocates the resources needed to ensure the organization's Quality, Environment and Health and Safety Management System adheres to the following principles:

- Ensuring services comply with existing specifications, norms and standards, as well as with laws and regulations related to Quality, Environment and Work Safety.
- Establishing actions and programs intended to favor continuous improvement, prevention of contamination as well as prevention of damage and deterioration of health, both in terms of service quality and of respect, environmental protection and people safety.
- Including in our services a management concept based on environmental impact elimination or minimization. This should be compatible with employment and a rational use of primary materials, energy and natural resources.
- Increasing clientele satisfaction while fully embracing the concepts of Quality and respect for the Environment and the commitment to Safety at work.
- Maintaining ongoing contact with stakeholders in order to favor close collaboration and improve performance, both technically and in terms of quality, occupational health and safety and environmental aspects.
- Encouraging and motivating personnel by fostering their training and awareness and promoting their participation in the management and development of the Quality, Environment and Occupational Health and Safety System.
- Favoring the development of personnel participation mechanisms to enhance safety and health at the workplace place.

Good service and swift delivery, honoring deadlines as well as product Quality and Environmental, Health and Safety commitments, are the pillars supporting the philosophy of Soltec Energias Renovables, S.L.

The Management team establishes, within the general policy, the plans and resources needed to meet the principles integrating our Quality, Environment and Occupational Safety Policy. Soltec Energias Renovables, S.L. is committed to complying with Quality, Environmental and Occupational Safety System standards.
